'Bringing faith and education together'

'Letting our light shine' (Matthew 5:16)

Our value this term is COURAGE

Be strong, be courageous. Do not be afraid; do not be discouraged, for the lord your God will be with you wherever you go.

[Joshua 1:9]

The week has been a focus on children's learning and development across all areas of learning. Our Governors have been into school to dive into our teaching and learning in RE. They talked to children, watched some lessons and looked in books. They were impressed with the way the children talked about concepts in Christianity, were keen to share their ideas and used good vocabulary. Governors also focused on safeguarding. This covered how we keep children safe in school and online, anti-bullying week activities and what the children learnt from the wider learning in workshops. They also focused on the well-being of children and staff. A sense of belonging and being safe, was something that came out of working with the children and ways to support staff with their well-being are both next steps for focus.

In preparation for parent consultations next week, we've focused on pupil progress through our internal tracking and moderations. It was an interesting few evenings looking at progress in learning in writing and maths, through the school. The progress from mark making in EYFS, to extended writing and reasoning & problem solving in maths up to Year 6, is always something to remind us of how much children absorb in their primary years!

Well done to Miss Brownfield, Millie, Bea and Sophie who visited Rochester Cathedral this week. They took part in a 'God or the Big Bang Theory' event. They listened to inspirational speakers, as well as taking part in their own Q&A sessions in debates. They represented our school really well –well done girls!

CHRISTMAS IS DEFINITELY COMING

Maybe it's the cold snap, the news showing snowy scenes around the country but there's some excitement in the air round school! I've overheard some whispered discussions about Christmas Trees, heard some singing about presents and visiting special people. I'm sure I've seen some beautiful angels and definitely some cheeky sheep about school. Keep your eye on Class Dojo for plenty of fun coming our way!

together

Our week in pictures...

There are 190 days in a school year, which leaves 175 days to spend on whatever you choose.

Officers from Kent County Council's Kent PRU & Attendance Service (KPAS) work closely with families, schools, and other services to promote the regular attendance of children at school.

POSITIVE ATTENDANCE FOR ALL

School Attendance: A Guide for Parents & Carers

YOUR RESPONSIBILITY

You have a legal duty to ensure your child receives a regular education at school or otherwise, which will help give them the best possible chance of success in life.

If your child is of compulsory school age and registered at a school, but absent without good reason, the school may choose to unauthorise any of those days. This could result in the council taking action against you for each child absent, including:

- A fine (known as a penalty notice)*
- Attendance Prosecution through the Magistrates Courts which could lead to a fine of up to £1,000 or a parenting order being issued.
- An Education Supervision Order (ESO) through the Family Courts.

*Your child's school may apply for the council to issue a penalty notice to you if:

- Your child goes on holiday without the headteacher's permission.
- Your child is absent without a suitable explanation, or none is provided or arrives late after the time the register closes.

*You may receive a penalty of £160 for each child's absence if paid within 28 days, and reduced to £80 if paid within 21 days. However, if a second penalty is issued in a 3 year rolling period the fine is £160 with no option to pay the reduced rate. A third penalty cannot be issued in the 3 year period and therefore you may face prosecution in the Magistrates Court which could result in a maximum fine of £1,000.

ATTENDANCE MATTERS

Too ill to attend school?

Children can attend school with minor ailments (toothache, headache, stomach ache, cold, sore throat).

If you are unsure how long your child should be absent with an illness speak with your child's school, GP or pharmacist for advice.

Medical Appointments

All routine appointments should be booked outside school hours. Your child's school may request sight of 'medical evidence' (e.g. copy of a prescription, medicine packaging with a label or appointment card). If you are unable to do so the school might unauthorise the absence.

Reporting Absences

It is your responsibility to notify school if your child will be absent and should do this every day until they return. If you do not respond or school has other concerns then staff may decide to visit your home in line with its safeguarding policy to check you and your child are ok.

Absence during Term Time

Your child must not be absent from school:

- For day trips / birthdays / holidays
- If weather is bad or are running late
- To care for other family members
- Due to the illness of a parent or sibling

The school will likely authorise an absence only in very exceptional circumstances, such as in the event of a family emergency.

EVERY DAY COUNTS

Persistent and Severe Absence

Any child with attendance of 90% or below (regardless of the reason for any absences) is considered to be a persistent absentee by the government. This equates to 2 days off school each month. Do you know what your child's attendance percentage is? Any child with attendance of 50% or below is classed as a severe absentee.

If your child is persistently or severely absent the school may arrange a meeting with you to find out what is causing this and what is needed make things better. This may result in the creation of a formal attendance contract or referrals to services such as Early Help.

Punctuality

Arriving late to school is unsettling for your child and can be disruptive to their teacher and other children. It is important your child arrives on time.

If your child arrives late this will be marked as so on the register. If your child arrives very late, this may be logged as unauthorised absence, even if they are in school. Be sure you know the times the school marks pupils as late.

Minutes late per day	Equals days worth of teaching lost per year
5 minutes	3.4 days
10 minutes	6.9 days
15 minutes	10.3 days
20 minutes	13.8 days
